Chicago - The Windy City

BY BROTHER THEOPHANE WALSH, M. M.

To most of the Japanese on the west coast prior to the war, Chicago was just another name in the railroad time tables and in the road maps picked up at the service stations throughout California and the northwest. Very few had made the trip east to the big city, and those who made the trip received only vague impressions of the town as of necessity they passed through hurriedly, or simply visited amusement or recreational centers in their brief visits.

With the outbreak of the war with its accompanying evacuation from the West coast of the Japanese people, the geography of the United States became more positive in the lives of these people uprooted from what they had considered their permanent homes. The relocation camps were scattered far and wide, and train rides soon lost their novelty in the long and uncomfortable trips from city to city and through the wide expanses of the deserts and prairies.

Then came relocation from the camps. From the first Chicago proved the most hospitable and receptive. Prior to the war about 300 Japanese formed the colony here in Chicago. In the millions living here these few hundred were lost and hidden away from public attention. With the coming of the evacuees from the relocation camps, the colony grew with rapidity. At one time a high of 25,000 Japanese were reportedly residing in Chicago. The majority of these are nisei but the percentage of issei is quite high.

Those who come to Chicago face the same handicaps as any other American moving to this area. The housing situation is just as acute for caucasians as it is for Japanese or any other minority group. On the whole, all nisei and issei too, will agree that Chicago has been exceedingly generous and hospitable, and understanding too of the problems that have faced the Japanese coming to this area.

Religious and civic groups have been generous of their time and of their money, in assisting the many newcomers in their efforts to obtain housing and employment. Usually the housing has been the most difficult problem, as the employment situation has been more than favorable for the Japanese. The issei have been given opportunities for work in a great variety of occupations and the wage scale has been for them better than some anticipated. The employment for nisei has been up to them. They have even been able to select the type of work they wanted, and ask for wages commensurate with services rendered.

Rooming houses, hotels and small businesses have sprouted up almost overnight here in Chicago run both by nisei and issei. This alone is an indication of the confidence the Japanese people have in their ability to make a go of it in Chicago. It is also an indication of the confidence the newcomers have in the hospitality and acceptance by the people of Chicago. These people who are sinking roots down here in the midwest will not venture again into the far west for many years, if ever, as they know that here in the midwest and far east, they meet with true American spirit of fair play and tolerance of the rights of others to live and make a home for their families.

* Issei—Born in Japan * Nisei—Citizen of United States

Former Northern Californian, Billy Yamamoto, who is the official photographer of the Chicago Japanese American Year Book and operator of the Oriental Studio is slated for induction into the Army. He wishes to extend his thanks to everyone, and hopes to serve the local community when he returns to the Windy City.

CHARLES Y. YAMAZAKI—concessioneer, farmer, restauranteur. Reversing the advice of one Horace Greeley, 69-year-old Yamazaki headed East upon his arrival in this country back in 1899. For ten years beginning 1906, he operated four restaurants in Cleveland, Ohio; at the same time acted as contractor; and operated a concession at a summer resort in Cedar Point, Ohio.

The year 1916 marked his entry into Chicago where he opened a restaurant called the Oriental Garden, on North Clark street. In 1926 he initiated the restaurant Incorporated which was dissolved in 1930. He now operates two restaurants on South State street.

Mr. Yamazaki's pride and joy is his 400 acre farm in Judson, Indiana, which he purchased in 1939. His produce include potatoes, onions, corn and beans.

He was very active in assisting the West Coast Issei and Nisei during their exodus from the various relocation camps.

From 1935 to 1946, Charles Yamazaki was the president of the Mutual Aid Society.

The Catholic Youth Organization Nisei Center is located on the near North side, at 1110 No. LaSalle Street, and was opened in early April, 1945.

The work among the Japanese was started by His Excellency Bishop Sheil, following a request of several young Japanese Americans who were anxious to help others in their immediate problem of relocation and adjustment to conditions in their new surroundings.

Interest groups have been formed for the young people who visit the Center. These include a fabric stencilling club, leather craft club, class in journalism, which latter group assists in the publication of a monthly news-letter, and athletic meetings. A group of older people are also attending the Center twice weekly for English classes, which are held in conjunction with the Chicago Resettlers Committee.

The Center has been a focal point for meetings of various civic and religious groups of Japanese people, and agencies concerned in the relocation problems.

While limited in accomodation, the Center is always open to service men and veterans. Their problems have priority at the Center.

The Center plans to continue its activities as long as the need for such services exist in this area. The services of the staff at the Nisei Center are extended to Japanese of all religious beliefs and denominations of course, and are not restricted to Catholics alone. This is in accordance with the policies set down by His Excellency, Bishop Sheil, who has been the staunch supporter and defender of minority groups.

The First Baptist Church, located near the University of Chicago, is a friendly interracial church of Caucasians and Nisei. Under the leadership of two young ministers, the Rev. F. Robert Steiger, a graduate of Ottawa University and the Yale Divinity School, and the Rev. Jitsuo Morikawa, a graduate of UCLA and the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, this historic south side church extends a most cordial invitation to all Nisei of Chicago.

An interracial choir of 30 voices led by Mr. Jacques Homier, director also of the Chicago Mendelssohn Club, provides inspiring music at every service held in the beautiful Gothic Sanctuary.

Chicago Japanese-American Year Book

EDITED AND PUBLISHED BY
Kalifornians Enterprise
1833 N. BISSELL STREET
PHONE MICHIGAN 7323
CHICAGO 14, ILLINOIS

Dear Reader:

Did We By Any Chance Miss You ?

The Chicago Japanese American Year Book was not turned out in a hurry. On the contrary. Many months were spent in compiling and editing the material which make up its contents. We think we have published as complete a year book as possible. However, it may be through some unavoidable reason we missed you.

Perhaps we left out materials of interest which you wanted mentioned in the pages of the year book. If we have, we are very sorry and express our sincerest apology. Please make it a point to write us so that it could be incorporated in our next book.

We take this occasion to ask the readers their opinion regarding this publication. Don't spare your criticism, but tell us frankly. Your comments and recommendations will serve as guide in our future efforts.

A publication of this kind could not be published without the whole hearted support of the advertisers. To them and to others who aided us we extend our thanks and gratitude.

Sincerely yours,

Kalifornians Enterprise
